

WILLIAM GREEN ASKS LEWIS TO GIVE UP C.I.O.

Urges Rebel Chieftain To Return, Take Part In Tampa Meet

Warns Lewis That Federation Can Carry On Without Him

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 16.—(AP)—William Green urged John L. Lewis and his rebel allies today to return to the American Federation of Labor to preserve labor's "united front."

In almost the next breath, however, Green warned the rebels that the federation could carry on without them and that they would have to give up their committee for industrial organization before they could come back.

President Green's voice trembled with emotion as he opened the federation's annual convention with a reference to the dispute between the labor factions.

"I asked them (the Lewis group) to recognize the principles of democracy," he said. "I asked them to come and take their seats with us—and fight out our differences in manly fashion at conventions of the American Federation of Labor."

In suspending Lewis' United Mine Workers and nine other unions two months ago, Green said, the federation's executive council merely insisted upon compliance with the Atlantic city convention's instructions last year.

That convention, controlled by craft unionists, voted down Lewis' demand that all the workers in each big industry be organized into one big union, regardless of traditional A.F. of L. craft lines.

"If you don't want me to obey convention instructions, then don't elect me as your president," Green shouted.

Evidence showed, he said, that the rebels' committee was a dual union.

Although he devoted most of his speech to the rebellion, he urged the 485 delegates to consider other issues of greater importance before the convention.

Green pronounced the depression ended and said wages must be raised and hours shortened.

"The 30 hour week," he said, "is the only real remedy for unemployment."

No sooner had Green finished his speech than the rebellion broke out on the floor.

John Frey, president of the federation's metal trades department who introduced a resolution to expel the rebels, challenged the right of a delegate to a seat on the grounds he might be a Lewis committee organizer and a communist.

The delegate was George Powers, representing the McKeesport, Pa., central labor council. Green referred the challenge to the credentials committee.

The committee seated Charles P. Howard, secretary of the Lewis committee, and Max Zaritsky, a member, because their unions were not suspended.

'FAT WHITE MAN' ADMITS SLAYING 5 YEAR OLD GIRL

Police Seize Andrew Capoldi; Admits Brutal Attack

Dying Words Of Little Girl Lead Officers To Suspect

Chicago, Nov. 16.—(AP)—An angry crowd strove to snatch a man from a police detail today after he had confessed slaying a five year old girl in a morning attack.

Taken to a school yard in "Little Italy" to re-enact the killing of Antoinette Trillini, the prisoner was surrounded by aroused residents of the neighborhood.

As Capoldi stepped from a patrol wagon near the little victim's home, the street filled with men, women and children, crying.

"Get him, kill him,"

Relatives left the wake in the humble Trillini home to join the throng.

"Let us at him," two of her uncles shouted. "He killed our little girl."

Capoldi cowered as officers forcibly restrained him from violence and held the crowd back. He was put back in the patrol car and driven away.

Supervising Police Captain John Stege said the prisoner—a hulking, pockmarked man of 28—made a "complete confession" to the crime that horrified "Little Italy."

Capoldi went to the McLaren school yard after he had been ejected from a tavern last Friday night, Stege said, and there met the pretty little victim. The captain quoted him further:

"I got hold of her hand, told her I'd buy candy and dragged her into a passageway back of the school. She began to scream. I got scared. I don't know why I did it, but I pulled out a pen knife. I slashed her, she began to bleed. I ran away."

The child, her jugular vein severed, gasped out the clue that led to Capoldi's apprehension before she died at a hospital. Her assailant, she said, was "a fat white man."

Detectives scanned records of men who had committed sex crimes. They seized Capoldi, a stout man weighing some 200 pounds, at his home early Saturday.

The prisoner was subjected to intensive questioning. A knife found in his home was placed with 11 others on a table at the Maxwell street station. Stege reported Capoldi picked his knife out of the collection.

Shortly afterward, the captain said, Capoldi made a detailed confession.

Meanwhile, sorrowing neighbors knelt before Antoinette's small white casket in the humble home of her father, Anthony Trillini, a WPA worker. She will be buried tomorrow.

Washington, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Replying to William Green's invitation for a return of his committee for industrial organization unions to the American federation of labor John L. Lewis said today:

"If they want us at Tampa and want to lift the suspension order we can go down to Tampa as peers of the gentlemen there, that will be another matter."

TODARD THE MILLENIUM

Evansville, Ill., Nov. 16.—(AP)—The possibility of increasing a child's intelligence through repeated treatments with thyroxin was advanced today by Ralph Hinton, research associate in psychology at Northwestern University.

He announced experiments had established the close relationship between the metabolic rate and the mentality of youngsters.

Groups of children chosen at random were subjected to standard intelligence tests. Their marks were tabulated. Small quantities of thyroxin were then added to their diets. Later examinations showed their grades had "considerably improved."

Alaskans Enjoy Lady Barber Now At $5 Per Shave

Bethel, Alaska, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The "Sourdoughs" of this Alaskan village can get "store" shaves now—if they like the five dollars and can overlook the crowds of curious natives that invariably clutter about the chair to watch the performance.

Alice Foregren, 22-year-old Bethel, N. D., beauty operator, brought the modern touch to this western Alaska community of 20 whites and 200 natives. She opened a combined barber and beauty shop this fall to groom the beards and coiffures of the Kuskowim river country.

So far, she has had but one male native patron, but the white settlers keep her busy.

Her first five shaves brought her $5 each and overnight fame as Bethel's greatest free sightseeing attraction.

Most of her business, however, is in permanent waves for native belles.

Noises Spur Rescue Crew to Reach Two Buried Gold Miners

Trapped Men Buried in Water Soaked Shaft for 48 Hours

Superior, Mont., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Occasional sounds emerging from the crumbling, water-soaked mine tunnel where two gold miners were entombed by a cave-in 48 hours ago, caused rescue workers to redouble their efforts tonight.

The men were alive, the workers said they were unable to determine whether the noises were made by the men or came from falling gravel inside the tunnel.

Working by the light of torches, Bud LaCombe and Fred Mass, partners of the trapped men, directed half a hundred rescuers who worked in the oozing mud.

The miners, Anton Gustafson, 40, and Oscar Gevart, 45, apparently trapped by a slide in a narrow horizontal tunnel at the Windfall placer gold mine, faced possible drowning if they were not crushed by the tons of mud, rock and gravel.

Little hope was held they would be found alive.

TESTS REVEAL WIDOW DID NOT FIRE REVOLVER

General Denhardt, Accused Of Murder, Has Not Been Cleared

Attempt To Prove Suicide Or Murder Reveals Fact

La Grange, Ky., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Coroner D. L. Ricketts revealed tonight that paraffin tests showed that dark eyed Verna Taylor did not fire a pistol the night Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt is accused of murdering her on a country road near here.

The coroner's statement topped a day of developments in the killing of the Blue Grass society beauty who was engaged to marry the portly 60-year-old Denhardt, former Lieutenant Governor and Adjutant General of Kentucky. These included:

1. Disclosure that Mrs. Taylor told her friends she was not going through with the marriage.

2. Coroner Ricketts being notified by Defense Counsel Beckham Overstreet that Denhardt's lawyers would wait no later than Wednesday noon for copies of all photographs and other data obtained at the secret autopsy performed Friday night when Mrs. Taylor's corpse was secretly exhumed by investigators. Overstreet said if the information was not made available the defense would initiate its own autopsy.

3. Commonwealth's Attorney H. B. Kinsolving, chief of the prosecution, met with his aides. "Nothing to say," was their comment.

4. Denial by Special Prosecutor J. Ballard Clark, retained by Mrs. Taylor's kinsmen, that General Denhardt had been warned to stay out of La Grange. "He's perfectly safe here," Clark said.

The paraffin test is designed to show by chemistry whether the subject fired a weapon in the previous few days. Detective Sgt. John J. Messmer, chief of the Louisville crime laboratory, tested Mrs. Taylor a few hours after her death and General Denhardt two days later.

"The tests in her case were negative," Ricketts told Overstreet when the attorney asked for data, "but the report on General Denhardt is not ready."

Ricketts said that by "negative" he meant that Mrs. Taylor had not fired a pistol.

General Denhardt remained in seclusion, as he has since the night Mrs. Taylor was killed, except for last Thursday afternoon when he went to her inquest, refused to testify and was arrested on a warrant sworn by Dr. E. S. Garr, her brother. Denhardt is free on $25,000 bond signed by State Health Commissioner Dr. A. T. McCormick, a boyhood friend.

Yuletide Shoppers' Savings Funds Will Total $355,000,000

Money Will Be Distributed To 7,500,000 in Next Two Weeks

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Yuletide spending money to the tune of approximately $355,000,000 will be distributed in the next two weeks to about 7,500,000 persons, Christmas Club, Inc., reported today.

This is in addition to approximately $44,000,000 in Christmas Club funds already reported by Mutual Savings banks in the 18 states in which they operate, bringing the round total to almost $400,000,000.

Christmas Club, Inc., through its president, Herbert F. Rawll, estimated the average year's accumulation for each club member would be $45.00. A total of about 5,000 banks throughout the country acted as custodians for the funds.

The total to be distributed represents an increase of about 14 per cent over the 1935 figures, but is only slightly more than half the amount saved in the peak year of 1930 when $632,000,000 was poured into the hands of 11,000,000 members.

Only about 42 per cent of the money will go for Christmas purchases, Rawll estimated on the basis of previous experience.

Permanent savings will account for fully 25 per cent, he said, while taxes, mortgage interest, insurance premiums and education, travel and charity will eat up the balance.

New Yorkers will have the lion's share of this year's distribution, Rawll said, with a total in the neighborhood of $96,500,000. Pennsylvania is second, with $36,200,000 and New Jersey third, with $31,500,000 saved.

The distribution by sections includes: East north central, $66,600,000; west north central, $18,600,000; last year, Rawll said, showed the smallest accumulation of all the post-depression years, with $312,000,000 paid out to 7,000,000 depositors.

MOSLEMS AND CHRISTIANS

Belut, Syria, Nov. 16.—(AP)—At least three persons were killed and more than a score reported injured today in a series of clashes between Moslems and Christians over the new treaty between France and Lebanon.

A narangue in the Basta Mosque against Lebanese independence Sunday night stirred the Moslems into a looting attack on the Christian quarter. Troops fired on the crowds to restore order.

Madrid Houses Fired By Fascist Artillery And Air Bombardment

Madrid, Nov. 17.—(Tuesday)—(AP)—Madrid was aglare early today with bright flames and red smoke after a Fascist artillery and air bombardment killed at least 60 persons and set fire to about 50 houses.

Incessant rifle and machine gun fire was heard from University City, in the northwestern corner of Madrid, as defending militiamen tried to fight back insurgents attempting to push into that section from the Cuatro Caminos district.

The fascists, in a surprise attack, occupied the former British and American hospital in the Cuatro Caminos district, and government forces opened an intensive attack in an effort to dislodge them.

Many houses in Madrid caught fire from artillery shells, while incendiary bombs set others ablaze.

More than 150 persons were wounded or injured in the shelling and the three air raids of yesterday which occurred at 2:30 p. m., 7 p. m. and 8 p. m.

During the third air attack—after nightfall—the insurgent planes loosed bombs on the Atocha station near the Parliament building.

The Fascist attempt to push into University City last night came after the government had declared a small body of insurgents, after penetrating that district within the confines of Madrid proper, had been driven out in a bloody 12-hour battle.

The defense Junta declared five insurgent planes had been brought down during the air attacks. Twenty-three government machines flew over Madrid pursuing the 15 raiders.

One bomb fell on a house at number seven Villalar street, close to the French Embassy and behind the Associated Press office.

All the houses in the vicinity of those which caught fire were evacuated.

The Trinitarians church where the ashes of Miguel Cervantes, famous Spanish writer, lie was set afire, as was the Jeronimos church.

Bombs struck the following streets: Huertas, Juan DeMena, Alberto Bosch, Moroto, Villalar, Atocha, Venecia and Jesus.

The air ministry reported government planes bombed the railroad station at Fascist-held Salamanca, burning war materials stored there, and an arsenal at Cadiz.

Home-going crowds on the Gran Via, an important business street, scattered for safety into subway entrances as anti-aircraft guns spat at the planes. The defenders' tracer bullets slashed the dark sky.

It was the first night raid in several weeks. One insurgent plane crashed in flames when a government gunner scored a direct hit earlier today.

Government soldiers blew up the Los Franceses bridge to keep the fascists from hauling up heavy equipment to fortify their positions on the campus.

The struggle for possession of the University region lasted from midnight Sunday until noon today, the government said, and the insurgents finally retreated across the Manzanares.

Some shells fell close to the business section of Madrid, one killing a man and his wife in a house at 47 Ventura De La Vega street.

The defense Junta, admitting that the situation was growing "increasingly difficult in the capital," said there were "sufficient resources to defend attempts to capture it."

French Powder Plant Explodes

Saint Chamans, France, Nov. 16.—(AP)—One of France's biggest powder factories blew up today, killing an estimated 35 persons and injuring more than 200.

Local gendarmes who made the estimate of the casualties described a series of terrific explosions which shook the entire town and could be heard 10 miles throughout the countryside.

The first thunderous blast in one of the storehouses sent a column of smoke and flames roaring into the sky.

Before trapped workers in the factory had time to run for their lives, the gendarmes said, a shower of flames and shrapnel from the exploding storehouses and the factory itself caused quick successive explosions.

Within a few minutes the buildings were a pile of flaming ruins.

A few of those injured who were not knocked senseless staggered from the burning buildings and collapsed in the arms of villagers.

Chimneys were knocked down and windows shattered all over the town whose terrified inhabitants, to a man, rushed to the scene.

Rescuers dug into the wreckage dragging out body after body as the little town was in a few hours turned into one large hospital.

FRANCO'S ARMY READY TO WAGE WAR IN MADRID

Insurgents Mass Troops, Tanks For Carnage Of City

Moors Have Swept Into The Outskirts Of City

With Insurgents Outside Madrid, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Attacking Fascist insurgents tonight massed tanks and infantry troops to make Madrid's streets and plazas the next battlefields of the Spanish civil war.

The hard-driving advance of Gen. Francisco Franco's Moorish Legionnaires were announced officially to have swept into small sections of the university city district within the northwesternmost edge of the capital.

Behind them the insurgent high command packed serried ranks of regulars and swift baby tanks, ready to surge forward as soon as the front line leaders flashed word the way into the city proper had been blasted open.

Explosive shells weighing 200 pounds shrieked into the University City area, under heavy fire all day long from the Fascist field artillery.

The deep roar of the guns and explosions could be heard 25 miles from Madrid.

Exactly how far the Fascist drive had penetrated into Madrid could not be learned as correspondents still were prevented from moving with the advance units of the troops.

All indications from what the correspondents could see, however, were that the fascists were within University City.

An official statement from Fascist field headquarters said their troops had captured a building in University City, north of the Paseo de Rosales, which additional unconfirmed reports said the insurgents had also reached.

The North Station area, on the other side of the barracks from the University City, apparently was the next objective of the attackers.

Heavy shellfire shook this district throughout the day.

Speedy tanks which have been brought into play time and again during the siege of Madrid led the advance across the Manzanares river, which serves as Madrid's protective "moat."

Capone Henchman Drawn Into Quiz Of Cuneo Jewel Theft

Tony Capezio May Have Shot Pal and Fled With Swag

Chicago, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Tony (Tough Tony) Capezio, described by police as a lesser light of the former Capone syndicate who now owns a flower shop, was drawn tonight into the investigation of the $40,000 Cuneo jewel robbery and the subsequent slaying of John Benedetto, 40, a small time Rockford, Ill., gambler.

A police squad began a check on Capezio's movements Saturday night, when two gunmen waylaid Mr. and Mrs. John P. Cuneo at their apartment door and relieved them of the jewels.

Cuneo is president of a large printing firm bearing his name.

Benedetto's bullet torn body, which Mrs. Cuneo pointed out as that of one of the robbers, was found in his parked automobile about eight hours after the holdup.

Although police suggested Benedetto might have been slain by a companion who made off with the loot, an inquest today shed no further light on his possible connection with the robbery and was continued to Nov. 25.

Checking over the Cuneos' description of the second gunman, Sgt. Michael Ahern ordered Capezio seized because his appearance corresponded generally. The sergeant said "Tough Tony" had been questioned recently about post-theater robberies.

Capezio denied knowledge of any robberies, and tonight the Sullivan's were unable to identify him.

Likewise, Capezio denied having known Benedetto.

"NO REQUIREMENTS"

Toronto, Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press)—John J. Swan of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company testified today that he believed water in the port buoyancy tanks caused the Sand Merchant which his company built to founder in Lake Erie Oct. 17 with a loss of 19 lives.

His testimony differed with that of other witnesses who said they thought a shift in the sand cargo caused the vessel to list and capsize.

Asked if the requirements of the British Corporation had been exceeded in construction of the sand merchant, Mr. Swan said he "knew of no requirements."

Endowing Nation With Art, — Taft Leaves $10,000

Chicago, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Lorado Taft's one page will estimated the monetary rewards of the noted sculptor's half century in art at $10,000 today.

Taft died Oct. 30 at the age of 76, leaving galaxies of his genius, many of heroic proportions, in civic beauty centers from Washington, D. C., to Seattle, Wash. The $10,000 estimate was contained in the formal petition for probate.

His widow, Ada Barlett Taft, was named sole legatee and executrix.

Concerned more with beauty than finances through his illustrious career, Taft left as monuments to his talent, among others, the The Columbus Memorial Fountain in Washington, "The Procession of Time," "The Solitude of the Soul" and "The Fountain of the Great Lakes" in Chicago, the Washington monument in Seattle, and the epic statue of the Indian Blackhawk near Oregon, Ill.

BOTH SIDES IN CONFERENCE TO SETTLE STRIKE

Maritime Walkout Is Finally Submitted To Joint Action

Unions And Shipowners Will Attempt Parley

San Francisco, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The first brief conference between employers and unions in several days of the maritime strike was held today as one union official expressed belief strikers would refuse to arbitrate all differences, as requested by seaport mayors who met with President Roosevelt in Washington.

Representatives of three seagoing unions and the coast committee for shipowners conferred briefly and then adjourned until tomorrow for further discussion of hiring hall control, curfew issue, and penalties which employers wish established for violation of working agreements.

Long before the strike, when negotiations over new contracts became deadlocked, employers offered to submit "unsettled" issues to arbitration. Unions declared they could not arbitrate such "fundamental" demands as control of hiring, cash overtime for sailors, a six-hour day for longshoremen, and an eight-hour day for cooks and stewards.

F. M. Kelley, secretary of the powerful Maritime Federation of the Pacific, said he did not believe the unions would change their stand as requested by eight mayors, who suggested the arbitration boards appointed by President Roosevelt for the coast, and Atlantic and Gulf district, where sympathy strikes occurred.

Mary Pickford to Marry, is Report

Olathe, Kas. — (AP) — Bert Rogers, father of Charles "Buddy" Rogers, motion picture star and orchestra leader, said today the engagement of Miss Mary Pickford and his son would be announced Friday at Hollywood.

The elder Rogers, who is Johnson county probate judge, said Buddy divulged the news in a telephone conversation with him and Mrs. Rogers early this morning.

"We're all pleased—mighty well pleased," Judge Rogers said.

"Buddy called me at 2:30 o'clock this morning—that would be 12:30 Hollywood time," the judge related. "After a short talk with me, he asked for his mother."

"He asked her if we could take the plane to Hollywood Tuesday. She wanted to know if anyone was ill. He said 'no, wait, I'll have someone else tell you.'"

"Then Mary came to the telephone and it developed they are going to have an engagement announcement at Hollywood Friday and wanted us to be there."

Roosevelt Makes Plans for Cruise

Washington, Nov. 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt announced late today he would extend his post-election vacation cruise into a 12,000 mile trip to address the opening session of the Inter-American Peace Conference at Buenos Aires December 1.

Let his going that far might lead to criticism because of the seriousness of the maritime strike, he told a group of mayors attending their annual conference here that world peace was "more important."

"As between this particular strike and whatever effect my visit to South America may have on the peace of the world," he said in greeting the municipal heads in his office, "the peace of the world is the more important of the two."

"I hope the ship owners and the men out on strike will recognize that fact and come together."

It will be Mr. Roosevelt's second visit to South America, although his first below the equator. Two years ago he stopped in Columbia en route to Hawaii.

He will leave Washington early tomorrow night for Charleston, S. C., where Wednesday morning he will board the 33 knot,

The Champion Father

Parents of large families have many responsibilities. The mother must see that the children are properly fed and clothed; that they conduct themselves as good children should, and stay out of mischief, at least while in the vicinity of the parental premises.

And Dad, too, has his responsibilities. He must take care of the financial welfare of the family. In other words he must bring home the beans and bacon, in addition to helping the mother direct the family's general welfare and education.

The parents of a large family who do a good job at rearing their sons and daughters command the respect of everyone. John Goodell of Beardstown, who Saturday was honored at the University of Illinois as the "Champion Dad," is one of those fathers who did an especially good job in rearing a family.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodell are parents of eight children. Each member of the family followed in the footsteps of their father by attending the University of Illinois. Before wending their way to Urbana at the rate of almost one a year, the Goodell children graduated from the Beardstown High school. Mr. and Mrs. Goodell have done well by their children, giving each a good education. To be singled out as the "Champion Dad" of the University is an honor of which Mr. Goodell has reason to be justly proud. The "Champion Dad" festivities at the University bring to mind an incident that occurred a few years ago at a Parent-Teacher association meeting at the Franklin third ward school. It was Father's night. The various grades were engaged in a contest for points—mothers counted one point, fathers were worth double. The children were eager that their parents attend, for it counted points in their contest.

The time for counting noses arrived. Starting with the first grade, the mothers and fathers of children were asked to rise and be counted.

A certain gentleman in the audience rose and was included in the tabulation of the first grade parents. When the second grade was called, up he got again. The third grade announcement found him on his feet. loyal to the boy or girl of his family who was enrolled in that particular section of school. The fourth grade count was a repetition of the others—the gentleman stood and was counted.

At this stage of the procedure there was a titter from the audience. The gentleman smiled good-naturedly, knowing that his repeated trips to his feet were attracting attention.

But he fooled 'em when the fifth grade was called for count. He remained in his seat. However, when the sixth grade parents were counted, he made his fifth and final ascent to be counted, while the audience applauded.

He, too, was a champion Dad, with five small children in the grade school. Fair to each boy and girl in his family, he "took the count" to give each class the advantage of his presence.

The father of several children who takes an interest in their welfare and sees that they receive a good education is not only doing his duty, but is helping to create a high type of citizenship. The father of eight sons and daughters who insists that they secure a university education, helping them attain that goal is a parent of whom not only his family but the public should be proud. That is why the faculty and students of the state university selected Mr. Goodell for the honor—he has all of the earmarks of a champion—he's true blue to the principles of parenthood.

Nebraska's Experiment

The State of Nebraska has elected its first non-partisan, unicameral legislature under the plan advocated and finally brought to adoption by Senator George W. Norris. The theory is that state issues have little or nothing to do with the issues fought out in the presidential or congressional campaigns; that the state issues accordingly will be decided better and state government managed better if the voters elect a relatively few legislators, running on the state issues alone and without party labels.

Applied to state government, the non-partisan election is wholly untried and there is no unanimity of opinion among students of government as to its worth. It is conceded that the state and national issues seldom coincide and that placing state and national candidates on a single ticket does not always aid in intelligent decision on either. Even so, it is doubted by some that representative government in an area as large and varied as the typical state can be carried on satisfactorily without party organization. In addition others regard state party organization as an indispensable adjunct of the national party organizations and would be loath to see them eliminated. Doubt as to the outcome of the Nebraska experiment is sufficient to insure it an interested audience. We do not believe that Illinois voters, at least until the result of the Nebraska scheme is established, would be willing to vote for such a plan.

Cost of The U. of I.

The University of Illinois at Urbana ranks among the first two or three tax supported universities in the United States. It enjoys a reputation which reflects credit upon the state which sponsors it.

Just how much money does the institution need each year? The answer is found in figures just released by Lloyd Morey, comptroller of the U. of I., who says that a total of $6,664,060 was received by the university from all sources for the year 1935-36.

Money for operation of the university comes from state appropriations, federal grants, student fees, sales from surplus products and endowments. The state appropriation from the general funds, for the biennium of 1936-37 was $4,294,450 per year.

The university has a physical plant which had a total of $30,175,749 as of last June. Lands belonging to the institution have a total value of $1,637,000, in addition to movable equipment valued at $4,645,000.

The great University of Illinois plant and the large sums represented in the yearly turnover of the school are used by more than 12,000 students in acquiring an education whose value in dollars and cents cannot be computed.

A Silly Investigation

The Literary Digest wasted a lot of time and money this year on a presidential poll which came out almost 100 percent wrong. Now Senator Kenneth D. McKellar of Tennessee proposes to waste a lot of the taxpayers' time and money investigating that poll. He intends, furthermore, to sponsor legislation putting the federal government into the business of taking straw votes which might, in the long run, prove worse than the Digest's. If McKellar hasn't anything better to occupy his time, the United States Senate should have.

The poll in question is assured of a place in political history as a classic flop in the time-honored art of getting an advance whisper of the voice of the people. Senator McKellar charged that the magazine did all this damage to itself, intentionally, just as a pleasant gesture toward the loser in the presidential campaign. No other interpretation can be put on Senator McKellar's charge that the Digest, "with dishonest and contemptible intent selected only certain voters to whom to submit test votes, or after the votes were received, willfully and deliberately failed to publish the true returns."

That is a silly statement, of course. Even more ridiculous is the Senator's assertion that the poll "caused hundreds of thousands and perhaps millions of voters to vote for Landon in hope that they would get on the band wagon." If Mr. McKellar can produce ten citizens whose votes were changed by the poll, the magazine ought to offer him a handsome job in its publicity department.

Funnest of all but potentially vicious, too, is Senator McKellar's suggestion that magazine and newspaper polls should be supervised by the government. If such a measure ever gets beyond the committee stage, most persons who have read of the preposterous proposal will be greatly surprised.

WEATHER MAPS NOW BY RADIO

Navigators Get Maps Broadcast to Vessels Several Times a Day.

From Taylor-Rochester.

Navigators need no longer take time from their regular duties to chart weather maps. Completed, up-to-the-minute weather maps prepared on land by experienced meteorologists can now be radioed out across the sea. In stormy weather these maps may go out several times a day, a great help to ship masters in keeping track of an approaching disturbance.

The technique for broadcasting weather maps was recently perfected after years of experiment by the weather bureau and the Radio Corporation of America. Experts at the New York station of the weather bureau draw the map—10 by 8 inches—on good calendared paper and turn it over to the experts of the Radio Corporation. It is then photographed and a print is placed in the sending end of the new device. A series of dots and spaces—on the order of those used in transmitting press photographs through the ether—sends the weather map on its way. Trans-Atlantic liners equipped with one of the new sets pick up the maps with the receiving end of the device.

This Really Happened
Many years ago a Jacksonville man who practiced magician tricks as a hobby and who was very adept at coin tricks, went out in the country to a small cafe and tried to sell a certain product. Debuffed quite fairly by the proprietor, the amateur magician said he felt like eating an orange, took one, from a case, and cut it in two.

"Well, well, look here!" he exclaimed, and displayed to the proprietor a quarter imbedded in the orange.

"I might as well pay for the orange with this," added the Jacksonville man, and handed the quarter to the astounded proprietor.

After he had secured his change and finished the orange, the magician decided he'd eat another one, and this time, beneath the close scrutiny of the proprietor, lo and behold, another quarter was found.

Then the magician left with a pleasant adieu, only to step to a window and with a big grin watch the proprietor cut up the remainder of the case of oranges without finding a single quarter.

The Family Doctor

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygieia, the Health Magazine

A tissue which lines the eyelids and runs out onto the eyeball is called the conjunctiva. Inflammation of this tissue is known as conjunctivitis. Various types of germs may attack it and cause this kind of inflammation.

When the conjunctiva becomes inflamed, there is a formation of pus, and the eyelids turn smart, and turn red. This infection may spread to the eyeball. The eye, when inflamed, usually becomes exceedingly sensitive to light, and tears flood it constantly.

In the morning the eyelids will be found crusted together. Doctors treat this condition according to the type of germ that causes the inflammation, and to severity of the infection.

Pink eye is a common type of conjunctivitis. Shortly after this special type of germ gets into the eyes, they become reddened. The lids are swollen and puffy, and usually are glued together in the morning. Pink eye ordinarily is spread by the use of a common towel or by soiled hands.

If the eyelids itch and smart, if they feel hot and heavy as though sand were underneath, the condition is probably conjunctivitis. Most patients get rid of this ailment within a week, provided proper attention is given to the eyes.

Occasionally symptoms are produced by over-exposure to ultraviolet rays, to the electric arc used in welding, or to the arc lights employed in motion picture studios. The two last-named are also forms of the ultraviolet.

The condition is caused by action of the rays on the eyes and disappears if the exposure is stopped. In such cases, cold compresses will soothe the eye, and the infection can be kept well under control by use of boric acid solutions.

It is not well to take these ailments lightly, because they may progress and seriously threaten sight itself. The only way to be certain of the exact character of such condition is to have the eyes examined by a competent doctor, who understands not only the anatomy of the eye, but also the various effects upon it of infections of different kinds.

In some instances, eyes become infected by germs from the water in contaminated swimming pools. Germs which affect the eye may include not only the ordinary germ, the Koch-Weeks bacillus, which causes pink eye, or a certain form of pneumococcus, but also various kinds of pus-bodies.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

Early Passage by Congress of 36-Hour Week Law Is Deemed Likely . . . Labor to Press for Legislation . . . High Court Is Expected to Be "Difficult" . . . Non-Partisan League Claims Large Share of Credit for Roosevelt's Triumph.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—A national 36-hour week law for industry is likely to be passed by the next Congress in its first session.

It cannot be said as yet that this is part of the Roosevelt program. But here are some reasons for expecting that it will be:

1—The most influential leaders of organized labor, who probably will have the most effective lobby on Capitol Hill this winter, have decided that the 36-hour working week—with possible provision for exceptions as well as minimum wage standards—is about what's needed to absorb most of the nation's unemployed employables.

2—Roosevelt's biggest job is still to solve the problem of the so-called "10,000,000 unemployed." He cannot depend on private industry to solve it, as he had hoped, and hour legislation seems his only recourse if he is to cut down the expensive WPA rolls. As reported in this column a year ago, Roosevelt then wanted a national 40-hour week law. He was dissuaded subsequently by U. S. Supreme Court decisions, bitter industrial opposition, and the political situation.

3—Congress in all probability would quickly pass such law. The Black 30-hour week law easily slid through the Senate in 1933 and would have passed the House if Roosevelt and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce hadn't dashed in with NRA as a substitute. Passage of a 36-hour bill would be likely as a result of labor pressure even if Roosevelt were to keep hands off.

Industry Stretches Hours

Hours in industry have been lengthened since NRA died. Thus production has been increased with no great absorption of the unemployed. With industry on an upward swing, labor leaders say, a 36-hour law would increase employment perhaps 15 per cent.

Leaders of Labor's Non-Partisan League and the Committee for Industrial Organization, at least, will not go so far as to demand a 30-hour week. They admit privately that they don't know what such a drastic change would do to industry and that it might cause a harmful disturbance.

On the other hand, they point to certain industries, notably the garment trades, where the 36-hour week has been successfully tried.

Face High Court Hurdle

Passage of a short work week law would mean a showdown with the supreme court, whose decisions have plainly shown that a complete change of heart or a change of membership would be necessary before such act would be held constitutional.

John L. Lewis and his group of labor leaders are not looking beyond the point where wage and hour legislation would be invalidated except as they expect to demand that Roosevelt move vigorously to meet the issue.

The Labor's Non-Partisan League attitude toward Roosevelt, in whose landslide it was a very large factor, is friendly and loyal. At the same time, this political organization, which expects to set up an important labor lobby in Washington for the first time, will stress the fact that it isn't "tied up" with the administration. It is not committed to formation of a third party or the political advancement of Lewis and will concentrate in 1938—and perhaps 1940—on election of labor's friends in both parties and defeat of its enemies.

Claim Credit for Victories

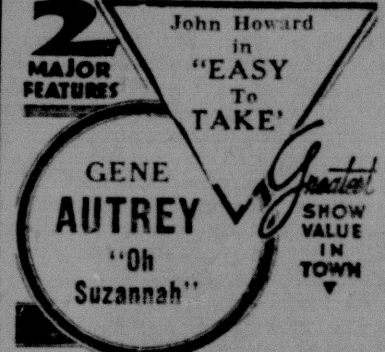

Accurately or not, the leaders believe there will be cities, congressional districts, and important states where candidates for office will realize they can't be elected without league support. This will boost the labor lobby's prestige in the capital. The league is taking credit for some of the most unexpected election results. Among them is the defeat of Congressman Bachrach and other New Jersey Republicans, including defeat of Senator Barbour by William H. Smathers, who was counsel for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. Also a big overturn in the previously anti-labor Pennsylvania state senate.

The league's claim that it re-elected Gov. Martin L. Davey in Ohio is especially impressive. Nearly every poll and every political prophet predicted Davey's defeat. But organized labor, led by the LNPL, supported him because he didn't call out state troops for duty in the rubber and other strikes.

Amid general astonishment over Davey's victory, there seems no way to explain it other than on the ground of the support of organized labor. (Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)

Pensions Going to 455 Aged Persons in Jersey County

Jerseyville City Water is Reported Unsafe; 2 Men Are Injured

Jerseyville.—The records show that as a result of the investigations, four hundred and fifty-five persons in the county who are sixty-five years of age or over, are receiving monthly Old Age Assistance checks. Fourteen applications have not been submitted to the Jersey County Welfare Commission as yet because of the fact that the applicants have not been able to produce sufficient proof of age.

During the eight month period that applications have been received locally, only twenty-six deaths have occurred in the ranks of the applicants. This is a comparatively low percentage in view of the fact that the group includes only those persons who have attained their sixty-fifth birthday.

A total of seventy-one applications have been rejected either because of a question concerning the age or because the applicant owns property or has an income in excess of the statutory limit. Almost a similar number of applications have been withdrawn for these same reasons.

Two men were injured treatment at the Jerseyville Hospital Friday evening for injuries sustained in auto accidents. One of the men was Frank Bush of Jerseyville and one was a transient.

According to reports, a car driven by Bush crashed into a pot in front of the Prost Barber shop on South State street about seven thirty o'clock. Bush was taken to the Jerseyville hospital where an examination revealed that he had sustained the fracture of ribs and a scalp laceration.

He was given medical attention and remained at the hospital Saturday morning.

The transient was struck by a hit and run driver while walking along Federal Highway Number 67 near the southern limits of the city. He was brought to the hospital where he was treated for minor injuries of the face and head. He was dismissed later from the hospital.

Water Supply Unsafe
Jerseyville's City Water Supply at the present is unsafe, and the State Board of Health has advised consumers to boil their drinking water until the present condition has been abated.

The City Council was notified to that effect Friday, and immediate steps are being taken to remedy the situation. The water supply is obtained from springs in the vicinity of Union Forest seven miles southwest of the city.

Mayor Robert E. Flynn of Jerseyville stated Saturday that the chlorine content is being increased pursuant to the suggestions outlined in the report of the State Board of Health.

Samples of the city water are submitted once each month to the state for examination, and the last sample is the one that brought the report from the state health authorities with unfavorable comment. Prior to the sending of the samples this month one of the heaviest November floods in the history of the Otter Creek Valley where the springs are situated took place. The ensuing high degree of turbidity has led to the recommendation of the installation of a filtration system at the city water plant, as well as increasing the chlorination efficiency.

Tavern Is Robbed

City police and county officers of Jersey county were notified of the robbery of a tavern at Chesterfield late Friday night. A series of robberies of stores has occurred in Jersey, Macoupin, Greene, Pike and Calhoun counties during the past month, but the robbery of the tavern is the first holdup.

Five men participated in the robbery of the Chesterfield tavern.

HOW LONG CAN A THREE-QUARTER WIFE HOLD HER HUSBAND?

YOU have to work at marriage to make a success of it. Men may be selfish, unsympathetic, but that's the way they're made and you might as well realize it. When your back aches and your nerves scream, don't take it out on your husband. He can't possibly know how you feel. For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three decades of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

George Baker Weds Miss Vivian Allen

Ceremony Performed Saturday at Hotel in Springfield; Was I.C. Grad

Miss Dorothy Vivian Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Allen, Pawnee, became the bride of George Shepherd Baker, Chicago, in a beautiful ceremony Saturday afternoon at the Leland hotel in Springfield. The vows were spoken at 4 p. m. in the sun parlor of the hotel, before an improvised altar of ferns, palms, potted pompons and large baskets of chrysanthemums, illuminated with candles in candelabra. Rev. J. A. Betcher, rector of the Episcopal church of Lincoln, read the service.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Cynthia Knisley, Big Rapids, Mich., gave a short recital of piano numbers, including "L'Amour Toujours L'Amour," "At Dawning," "Because" and "I Love You Truly." The wedding party entered the sun parlor to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin.

The bride, on the arm of her father, was preceded by her bridesmaid, Miss Eleanor Shepherd. Thomas Baker, Pawnee, attended his brother as best man.

The bride was charming in a creation of ivory satin. Her gown was fashioned on princess line with high cowl neckline, long sleeves and made entrain. Her veil of tulle was caught with orange blossoms and also fell entrain. She carried a Colonial bouquet of gardenias, lilies of the valley and white sweet peas.

Miss Shepherd was attired in a floor length gown of peach moire also fashioned on princess line. With it she wore a close fitting hat of peach velvet trimmed with silver and her slippers were silver. She carried a Colonial bouquet of Token roses and pompons.

The ceremony was followed by a reception for sixty guests. Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. William Allen, East St. Louis; Miss Alice Annette Wilcox, Taylorville; Miss Jannette Ford, Waverly; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Albright, Biggers, Ark.; Robert Groves, Mr. and Mrs. Alton T. Belsh, Chicago; Gertha Gilliam, Glenham; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Busch, Covington, Ind.; Miss Velma Huddins, Miss Lucille Coleman, Weber Hamilton, Champaign; Dr. J. A. Betcher, Lincoln, and Miss Cynthia Knisley, Big Rapids, Mich.

After a short motor trip Mr. and Mrs. Baker will be at home to their friends in Chicago. For her going away outfit the bride wore a two-piece wool dress of dark green, a jacket of brown kid caracul, and her accessories were brown.

Mrs. Baker, a member of a prominent Sanganon family, is a graduate of Lindenwood college, St. Charles, Mo. Mr. Baker is the son of Chester Baker of Pawnee. He is a graduate of Illinois college, where he was a track star of '33 and '34. For sometime he has been associated with the Byrn Mawr apartment hotel in Chicago.

Fay Coleman Out-Shoots The Favorites In First Half Of 19th Pro Golfers' Tourney

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Fay Coleman, 31-year-old former Culver City, Calif., amateur star, licked the winds of the cold and the course, which combined malevolently to whip the favorites, and stole the shot-making honors today in the first half of the 36-hole qualifying round of the 19th professional golfers' championship.

The tall, curly haired Coleman, who wore a towel around his neck as protection against the raw blasts, shot the No. 2 Pinehurst Country Club layout in 68, four under par, equalling the course record hung up jointly a year ago by Horton Smith of Chicago and Ray Mangrum of Pittsburgh in the north and south openers. Smith, playing with Coleman, could do no better than 75, and Mangrum took 74.

As a matter of fact it wasn't the favorites' day. While Coleman—who is an amateur took lessons from Leo Diegel and then showed his respect by eliminating him in his first PGA championship two years ago—set the pace, 28-year-old Alex Gerlak, who is a combination pro and greenskeeper at Catskill N. Y., took second place with a 71.

When all the shooting was over for the day the second round will be played tomorrow when the 63 low scorers will join defending champion Johnny Revolta of Chicago in match play starting Wednesday with two 18-hole rounds—Coleman and Gerlak were the only players among 113 who could equal or better par of 72.

Grouped in third place with 73s were Harry Picard, tall and willowy Hershey, Pa., stylist and Tony Mancro of Greensboro, N. C., 1936 national open winner, the first favorites to appear in the standing, and Leo Walper of Bethesda, Md., and Clarence Yockey of Kansas City, a pair of comparative unknowns.

Although exempt as defending titleholder, Revolta participated in the qualifying test for the exercise. He posted a 74, entering that bracket along with such headliners as Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., Bill Burke of Cleveland, Ed Dudley of Philadelphia, Alvin (Butch) Kreuger of Beloit, Wis., and Mangrum.

"Lighthorse Harry" Cooper of Chicago, the hard luck guy of the national open, wound up with a big 42 for a 75, along with Smith, Ky Lafontaine of Chicago and wee Bobby Cruikshank of Richmond, Va. Among the five former champions in the field, Gene Sarazen, the Brookfield Center, Conn., veteran who picked up the Australian title two months ago, led the veteran contingent with a 37-38-75. Walter Hagen of Detroit, who won the title for the first five times in 1914, started auspiciously with a 36, but finished with a 77. Tommy Armour of Chicago posted a 76; Paul (Little Poison) Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., 78, and Diegel 79.

BEAR DOWN FOR BIG PUSH ON PIGSKIN FRONT

Firing will be heavy on all football fronts Saturday, Nov. 21, as traditional rivalries are renewed and intersectional battles of importance are fought in all sections. Above are a few of the outstanding gladiators who will tear up the turf. Upper left is a fellow whom Notre Dame must watch—Ollie Adelman, Northwestern halfback, who pitches passes against the Irish at South Bend. Below Adelman, left to right, are Forest (Spec) Towns, Olympic hurdle winner and Georgia end, who invades New York against Fordham, and Ken Sandbach, Princeton halfback, a big threat against Dartmouth in Princeton. Kicking is Al Hessberg, Yale back, whose ball-lugging ability will test the Harvard line at New Haven. Inset at left is T. C. U. Capt. Walter Roach, expected to catch some of Sammy Baugh's passes against Rice at Houston. Claude (Cab) Calloway, inset at right, is a Stanford tackle California will buck at Berkeley.

Not anticipating a record breaking basketball team, Coach Wallace Bap-tist yesterday picked his squad for the first trip of the season, naming as his probable starting line-up Gregory Galtens and Beerup guards, Pieper and Henry, forwards, Hohmann, center, McHatten and Bill Galtens will make up the reserve squad for the first trip.

City Basketball Series Is Revived This Winter; Routt Waits For New Gymnasium

Routt high Rockets will touch of the fuse on their 1936-37 basketball season tonight when the first and second teams from the parochial school open one of the heaviest schedules they have attempted in recent years on the Pearl gymnasium floor tonight.

Arrangements were completed yesterday between Jacksonville high and Routt for one game this season and it is hoped to arrange another game in order to bring back to life the city series which died about a year ago. The Rockets and J. H. S. already have scheduled games with Jacksonville high, and only the games between Routt and the high school prevented a return to the interesting series.

Not anticipating a record breaking basketball team, Coach Wallace Bap-tist yesterday picked his squad for the first trip of the season, naming as his probable starting line-up Gregory Galtens and Beerup guards, Pieper and Henry, forwards, Hohmann, center, McHatten and Bill Galtens will make up the reserve squad for the first trip.

Coach Baptist pointed out that the Rockets will not play any games at home, with a single exception, until after the first of year when the gymnasium in the new parochial school will become available, according to plans now. The single exception is the game with the Quincy Academy team along toward the middle of December.

The new gymnasium will have a playing floor 35 by 48, within few feet of the maximum, and will have at least four feet of clearance between the playing floor and the seating space, and five feet clearance on the ends. The coach has been inspecting electrical scoreboards, and it is planned to install one of these in the gymnasium.

Three Big Boys Although this year's Routt varsity, as it stands now is not made up of all big men, the squad comes nearest to being what the coach wants than anything he has had for sometime. Beerup, a husky Alexander boy who stands six feet, Francis Ferry, center, who stands six feet three inches, and Hanley, a well built six footer, are the three big boys, and Greg Galtens, veteran from last year and Shannahan, a reserve from last year's team, are the two fast little men on whom the coach is basing his hopes.

Routt has added a number of games to its schedule this year, and will compete in the newly formed Morgan county high school conference, better known as the Little Six. Murrayville, Waverly, Chapin, Franklin, and Routt are the basketball playing members of the league.

There will be two games on the opening card for the Rockets. The game will be played in the large gymnasium which Pearl dedicated last year.

Coach Baptist said that the schedule below is completed with the exception of two games with White Hall, and one more with J. H. S.

Aggies who beat San Francisco, 34, and Utah, 20-7, in a four-day last week play Centenary.

Far west: Washington, with victories and a tie, and Washington State, with victories, a tie and defeat, are the sole remaining Pacific coast conference contenders. They will collide at Seattle Thanksgiving day. Washington turned back Southern California, 12-0, last week as Washington State, bounding from its surprising defeat at Oregon State's hands, thoroughly tattered Bruins of U. C. L. A., 32-7.

California and Stanford, the powers who started their comeback, too late, defeated Oregon, 28-0, a Oregon State, 20-14, respectively while Montana was whipping Idaho, 16-0.

Santa Clara walloped St. Mar 19-0 to remain among the nation undefeated-united teams.

Southeastern: Louisiana State, 6 victor over Auburn, and Alabama, which barely held Georgia, are closing rally within bounds to 20-16, are the leaders. Louisiana has won five successive conference games; Alabama has won four a tied one.

Southern: Duke virtually clinched the Southern conference title. Chapel Hill Saturday by winning easily from North Carolina, 27-7. Blue Devils have won six conference games and six victories.

Rocky Mountain: Utah State's 13 conquest of Colorado University gave the Aggies the champions, with six victories and a tie.

Two Vets Bolster Waverly Quintet

Waverly.—"Frosty" England has been at work for two weeks in an effort to build an attack around the only two veterans on his hardwood squad of twenty-three boys. These two vets are Don Newberry and Ray Deatherage. Deatherage, a small, tricky, will o'wisp will be available only the first semester due to the eight semester ruling. Don Newberry, England's ace in the hole, is fast and very elusive. Naturally the Waverly

Scotties attack will take into consideration Newberry's ability.

The remainder of the squad is made up of freshmen and sophomores with practically no experience. Outstanding among this group is Jackie Morris, 175 pound Soph, who promises to give opponents an interesting evening under the basket before midseason.

It is very possible that the Scotties will have at least one Soph and two freshmen in their line up when Modesto comes there to open the long schedule Nov. 20th.

The schedule contains twenty-three games, featuring eleven home contests, eleven games with M. S. M. conference rivals, and engagements with Ashland, Modesto, Franklin, Virginia, New Berlin, Routt, Palmyra and Jacksonville outside the loop.

Summers Lost to J.H.S. for Game

Tonsil Operation Causes Half Back to Drop Out for Coming Game

Everett Summers, halfback on the Jacksonville high school football team, will be lost to the team for its game at Roodhouse Saturday and may not be able to compete in the final game against Illinois School for the Deaf Thanksgiving morning.

Summers underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils, and has suffered hemorrhages to the affected organs. Regarded as one of the stalwarts of the backfield, Summers lost threatens to handicap the Crimson when they bump into Roodhouse this Saturday.

The Crimson resumed practice for the game with the Railroaders after a three day rest, granted them following their victory over Virginia here last Wednesday. The J. H. S. coach was not certain just yet who would take over Summers' place in the backfield, but indications were that Ray Abel might be moved back to the position, and a new end placed on the line.

All of the boys appeared to be in fine condition, and were full of energy as a result of their vacation.

Mrs. Guy Conitas of Arnold was a caller in the city yesterday.

game.

Several of the football spectators de-luxe were of the opinion that the Blueboys could have enhanced their chances a lot by stopping the razing they were handing out to Nick Gilbert, former Blueboy who is now a tackle on the Milton team, and a couple others.

Gilbert got himself all steamed up as a result of the razing, and played one of his best games of the season at tackle.

It is all said to have started when someone made some sort of a remark about Nick's one good arm.

A number of others wondered whether Coach Johnson didn't keep Burgener covered up during the first half, in order to provide more punch to the second half. Burgener carried the ball 11 times during the first half and made 18 yards as a net total. He carried the ball forward about 26 yards, but lost eight yards on other tries.

—FAN BREEZES:—

Don't be deceived by all this propaganda you hear about putting away the footballs. There are some excellent games on tap for the gridiron fans around this part of the country.

We'd like to have a front seat at the White Hall-Carrollton scrap next Saturday afternoon, or one at the Roodhouse-Jacksonville contest the same afternoon.

Or you might reserve us another seat at the J. H. S.-I. S. D. scrap on Turkey day.

However, a lot of schools have put aside their football regalia and after most of the gridgers get a rest of about a week, they'll get down to work on basketball. Beardstown, where there was considerable talk about a post-season game, decided against it after the Rushville game by a vote of the players.

Only two of the boys wanted to play another game, and there were several boys battered up sufficiently that there was some doubt that all of the Tigers could be present for a post-season go if it could be arranged.

Danville's victory over Springfield recalled a conversation we had with Johnny Noppenberger, now with Peoria Central high as one of Salen Herke's helpers. Noppy was beginning to wonder just when the Springfield reign over the Big Twelve conference was going to end, and we remarked then that every winning streak has been broken at sometime or another.

Illinois College fans didn't ride Coach Leo Johnson as hard as usual last Saturday, and the Little Napoleon felt a lot better about the whole thing. We've often thought that Johnson has been subjected to too much riding from the local fans.

After the game Johnson went to Coach Ray Nussipickel and congratulated him on having a fine team. Johnson declared that Illinois outplayed, outgamed, and outgained his team, and declared that it was one of the toughest games Nussipickel ever has lost.

There was gloom thick enough to cut with a knife in the Blueboy dressing room after the game. No one had a word to say, and answered well wishes and congratulations with monosyllables.

Millikin players dashed to a downtown hotel to change back to their street clothes after the game, a departure from the usual custom of dressing at the gymnasium. They were pretty much pleased with their victory.

Firemen Make Six Runs Sunday; Three Fires Cause Damage

All Minor Blazes Reported as Department Ushers in Winter Season

Jacksonville's fire department made six runs Sunday, just about half the number of their record for one day, but the runs signified the entrance of the winter season. Damage resulted at three of the places of call, two calls did not report damages, and the other was a call to perform a good deed.

Beginning at 8:15 a. m. when the department responded to a call from 274 Woodland Place, the home of Leavitt Arnold, to 9:50 p. m. Sunday night, the firemen were busy. At the Arnold residence, the firemen found that hot ashes had been piled on cardboard containers, causing a large amount of smoke.

There was some smoke damage reported by the firemen after this call. The members of the department also found that it was necessary to break out some windows in the basement in order to provide ventilation to remove smoke.

The second call came from Wise and Dowland's business place on West Court street, where it is believed defective wiring caused a fire to start on one of the joists. The flames worked their way between two floors laid over the same joists, and firemen worked for some time to bring the fire under control. Damage was limited to the flooring.

At 12:55 p. m., a Miss Magill at 715 South Main street called the department and asked that someone be sent out with a ladder to climb to the second floor of her room and unlock the door from the inside. She said she had inadvertently locked herself out.

Something which had dropped down a register at the home of Dr. H. L. Griswold, at 1606 Mound avenue, resulted in another call to the department at 3:55 p. m. Smoke pouring up from a hot air register led to fears that there might be a fire.

At 7:10 p. m. the department responded to a call at 876 Rott street, the home of Thomas Meyers, owned by Frank Eades, where a spark, which had fallen on the roof, burned a hole about two feet square. Damage was confined to the roof.

An overheated hot air pipe at the home of Thomas Handline, 1216 Park Place, resulted in the final call to the department. Flooding around the pipe became ignited. The fire was caused by an over-heated furnace.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson and Murrayville Couple Hurt in Roadhouse

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson of this city and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McMahon of Murrayville, were all slightly injured about 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon when their car was overturned at a roadhouse. The Morgan county people were driving through the city on the hard road when a car drove out of a filling station and crashed into their machine.

Mr. Johnson was driving the car. Fenders and running board were ripped off by the force of the collision, and the car turned over on its top and then back on its side. The occupants of the car suffered minor cuts and bruises and were considerably shaken up and unnerved by the crash.

The other car struck first the front and side of the Johnson machine and then swiped along the side, taking off the running board.

Warren Jones represented the Waverly community in the city yesterday afternoon.

Cars Crash Head-on On Sinclair Road; Two Persons Injured

Herbert Ingram and Son Fritz Injured Sunday Morning Near City

Automobiles driven by Robert Ingram and Otis Hill collided head-on Sunday morning at 10:30 at the Chamberlin corner on the Sinclair road, resulting in injuries which brought two people to Our Saviour's hospital for treatment.

Herbert Ingram, father of the family riding in the car, suffered a cut lip, and Fritz Ingram, a son, was cut about the neck and face by flying glass. Robert Ingram, the driver, and Mrs. Ingram and youngest child, were uninjured.

Otis Hill, driver of the other machine, was accompanied by Tom Pierce, both of whom reside in the Litterberry neighborhood.

The accident is said to have occurred as the two machines attempted to use the same side of the road in going around the corner.

Charles Stromatt, deputy sheriff, investigated the accident. Herbert and Fritz Ingram were released from the hospital after obtaining treatment.

The block broke into several pieces, but Gutenberg re-assembled it. It was then that the idea of making movable type occurred to him. He struggled through one business partnership in which the owners attempted to squeeze him out of the business after he had printed some Bibles, but went to work for himself and produced the famous Gutenberg Bibles, most of which bear the date of 1454, and many of which are still in existence.

Gutenberg fashioned his press along the lines of a cheese press, and it was not for a long time that much was done, except spreading up press work. Providing ink that would answer the needs also caused some difficulties.

The speaker traced the development of printing to the time of Mergenthaler, another German, who invented the Lin-O-Type machines which cast type when an operator manipulates the various controls. Mergenthaler, who was not a printer, but who was mechanically inclined, had considerable difficulty in finding the type of matrix into which hot lead is poured to form the letters, which would meet the requirements, and solved this problem after several years of experimenting.

Mr. Hoagland also spoke of the Monotype, a machine used to cast individual letters, and the development of the presses from the old flat bed style to the modern tubular presses.

FARM BUREAU DAY OBSERVED IN SCOTT

Winchester, Nov. 16.—Farm Bureau day, a drive for membership in the organization, was observed in Scott county today, beginning with an early morning breakfast in the Winchester Christian church.

Telma DePree, vice president of the Illinois Agricultural association, was the principal speaker, and his topic, "The Farm Bureau of Tomorrow." Other speakers were S. G. Smith, Winchester; Claude Jewsbury, Jacksonville; and Burl Hornbeck of Winchester.

Printing Subject At ABC Meeting

American Business Club Members Hear Talk; Name Directors

How printing came to be one of the major industries of the world was described at a meeting of the American Business club last night at the Peacock Inn by Ernest Hoagland, of this city. Mr. Hoagland told of the development of printing from the time of its discovery by the accidental dropping of a wooden plate on which a name had been carved, to the methods in use today.

Clarence Richardson was elected president of the club, and Paul Baker and Ernest Savage were elected directors during a short business meeting preceding the talk. President Harold Kamm presided over the session.

Beginning with the discovery of paper by the Chinese back in 800, Mr. Hoagland brought the development of printing down to the present day through its various steps. He related that Gutenberg, a German, gun setter, was the first man to make movable type, although there had been considerable wood block carving prior to that time. Gutenberg, the speaker said, carved the name of his wife on a wood block, but dropped it one day while displaying it.

The block broke into several pieces, but Gutenberg re-assembled it. It was then that the idea of making movable type occurred to him. He struggled through one business partnership in which the owners attempted to squeeze him out of the business after he had printed some Bibles, but went to work for himself and produced the famous Gutenberg Bibles, most of which bear the date of 1454, and many of which are still in existence.

Gutenberg fashioned his press along the lines of a cheese press, and it was not for a long time that much was done, except spreading up press work. Providing ink that would answer the needs also caused some difficulties.

The speaker traced the development of printing to the time of Mergenthaler, another German, who invented the Lin-O-Type machines which cast type when an operator manipulates the various controls. Mergenthaler, who was not a printer, but who was mechanically inclined, had considerable difficulty in finding the type of matrix into which hot lead is poured to form the letters, which would meet the requirements, and solved this problem after several years of experimenting.

Mr. Hoagland also spoke of the Monotype, a machine used to cast individual letters, and the development of the presses from the old flat bed style to the modern tubular presses.

LUMP-SUM PAYMENTS
(Whenever the term "wages" is used, it refers to wages for services performed after 1936 and before the age of 65 in included employments.)

Q. 41. Will I receive any benefit if I reach 65 before my total wages for services after 1936 amount to $2,000 or before I had wages for employment in each of 5 different calendar years?

A. Yes, provided you have been employed in an included employment after December 31, 1936. You will not qualify for monthly Federal old-age retirement benefits. However, you will receive a lump-sum payment based on your wages from included services after 1936.

Q. 42. Under what conditions would I receive a lump-sum payment at the age of 65?

A. If between December 31, 1936, and your sixty-fifth birthday you have worked in included employment but have not met the requirements for monthly Federal old-age retirement benefits, either because the total amount of your wages is not as much as $2,000 or because you were not employed at some time in five different calendar years after Dec. 31, 1936, you will receive a lump-sum payment.

Q. 43. What is the amount of this lump-sum payment?

A. Three and one-half percent of your total wages between Dec. 31, 1936 and the age of 65. However, as in the case of monthly Federal old-age retirement benefits, no wages in excess of $3,000 a year from any one employer are counted in the computation of the lump-sum payment.

Q. 44. If I reach the age of 65 in July 1938, and until that time I work in an included employment, will I receive a lump-sum payment?

A. Yes. For example, if you are employed from Dec. 31, 1936 to July 1, 1938, in a factory and your wages for this period are $150 a month, making a total of $1,800, you will receive a lump-sum payment of $53.

Q. 45. If my total wages are $5,000 from an included employment after 1936 and before the age of 65, but such employment occurred in only 4 separate years, will I receive a lump-sum payment?

A. Yes. When you reach the age of 65, you will receive 31 percent of $5,000, or $1,550. You could not qualify for a monthly benefit unless you had some employment during some additional year after 1936 and before reaching the age 65.

Q. 46. If I am entitled to receive monthly Federal old age retirement benefits, will I have an option of receiving a lump-sum payment instead?

A. No. A lump-sum payment is made only to the worker whose wages meet some, but not all, requirements for monthly Federal old-age retirement benefits.

Q. 47. If I continue in regular included employment after I am 65, will I receive a lump-sum payment?

A. Yes. The lump-sum payment to those who meet some, but not all, minimum requirements for benefits is not forfeited by continuing regular work in an included employment.

J. T. Cloyd of Bluffs called on local business men yesterday afternoon.

Everett Johnson was in the city from Alexander yesterday.

New York, Nov. 16.—(P)—The stock market climbed back in the recovery today as business news brightened and fears of immediate foreign liquidation lessened appreciably.

With favorable earnings statements and dividends heartening traders, industrial leaders were given a lift of fractions to 2 points and a few as much as 9 or so.

Amusement and merchandising issues were in the forefront, although selected steel, copper, motor, aircraft, utility and oil favorites were plentiful. Rails were inclined to mark time but one or two were in demand. Transfers totaled 2,374,480 shares against 2,462,000 last Friday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .7 of a point at 71.6.

WHERE CHAMPIONS MEET

As a climax to the American agricultural show year, the International Live Stock Exposition will be held in its 37th annual renewal at the Chicago Stock Yards November 28 to December 5.

Pictured above is a representation of the many thousands of purebred farm animals that will be exhibited in competition for continental honors. Stockmen from nearly every state in the Union and province of Canada have listed entries.

Secretary B. H. Heide says that eleven percent more beef cattle will be shown this year than last, while the number of draft horses is 25 percent higher. Farm youths from twelve states will exhibit 550 baby beavers, lambs and pigs in the show's junior feeding contest, a 30 percent increase.

More Than 50 Illinois Farmers Make Reservations For Trip to California; E. E. Hart, Earl Smith Going; Apples Growers Profit by Advice; Hatching Tips

More than 50 Illinois people have made reservations for the all-expense tour to the 18th annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation and Aid Society, George, a ward of the society for a number of years, is living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mills, Hanover.

Not only did he win first prize for the biggest and best potatoes in this contest, but when George's potatoes were entered recently in the Community Fair at Elizabeth, Illinois, they won a blue ribbon for their young cultivator.

George is just one of the 1,937 boys and girls under the care of the society, which has been caring for dependent children of Illinois for fifty-three years. Many of the older boys, like this boy, are placed on farms or in rural communities where they assist in the chores and learn the routine of farm life.

A good many of the society's wards, now grown up, are operating the farms upon which they lived as boys. They have established their own families and are now a very important part of the various communities in which they live.

Calhoun Farmers Save By Heeding Advice.

Calhoun county apple growers are counting their savings this fall as a result of having followed the advice of W. P. Coolidge, director of the Illinois Experiment Station, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, and Illinois State Natural History Survey.

Early last spring San Jose scale was discovered in several orchards, according to Farm Adviser J. H. Allison, in his report to the agricultural college. Fearing that the scale might be extensive, he sent about 30 sample twigs to Flint for his advice.

Since the number of live scale found did not warrant the expense of spraying, Flint recommended that if spraying be done at all it be confined to the lower body of the tree. This fall, Flint's recommendations have been proved accurate, Allison reports.

"No live scale has been found more than six feet above the ground and what has been found this fall on water sprouts were probably covered by snow or protected by the old rough bark, as Flint stated last spring," Allison said.

"His advice has saved the fruit growers of the county thousands of dollars which would have been spent for dormant spray material."

Iowa Farmer Named Assistant to Wallace.

R. M. Evans, farmer of Laurens, Iowa, has been named a special assistant to Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture. He takes up his duties immediately.

A graduate of Iowa State College at Ames, class of 1913, Mr. Evans has spent the past 15 years in farming and cattle feeding in Pocahontas county, northwest Iowa. He is a former chairman of the Iowa Agricultural Conservation Committee as well as past chairman of the Iowa Corn-Hog Committee.

Winter Driving O. K. If You Take Care.

Knock knock! Who's there? It's Old Man Winter!

Yes sir, folks, it's that man again. Don't let Jack Frost with his beautiful landscape paintings pull the wool over your eyes. Old man winter is right behind him planning to do a little painting of his own. He'll soon be turning highways into ice fields and windshields into frost-covered panes of glass. He's rather crack now, but one of these days he'll crack down.

Get ready now for winter driving, warns the Safety Department of the Illinois Agricultural Association. Everything points to a skiddy season.

Get out the tire chains and put them in order. Replace tires on which the tread is badly worn. Turn on the headlights earlier these short days. Tail lights should be looked over, old bulbs replaced and wiring put in tip-top condition.

Carbon monoxide is another winter danger. Open the garage doors when you start the car. Keep a window open while on the road. Look at your windshield wiper. Is it working? If not, put it in running order. The same holds for de-frosters for the windshield. You'll need them constantly in the next few months.

Horace Bridges to Speak Here Tonight At Illinois College

Was Speaker Here Year Ago at Literary Union Meeting

Horace James Bridges, internationally known lecturer, will talk to college students and local residents at 8:15 tonight in the Illinois College chapel on "Roosevelt: War and Peace." The lecture is the first of the Illinois College Rambler's '36-'37 series.

Bridges spoke here last year before the open meeting of the Jacksonville Literary Union. His witty, interesting treatment of an entirely different topic, the life of Charles Dickens, earned him wide acclaim at that time.

Bridges will outline the foreign policy of the United States during the past four years, particularly in regard to neutrality in the Italo-Ethiopian war, and the Spanish Civil War. With this background the potentialities of the Pan-American Peace Conference in progress in Buenos Aires.

The New York Times last week hinted that Roosevelt would make a hurried trip to South America aboard a battleship to speak to the conference. It was also suggested that Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Roosevelt, and other dignitaries of the twenty-one nations participating might lay down a framework for a Western Hemisphere league of nations.

Bridges is a speaker of broad cultural attainments, and is especially well qualified by his international background to discuss American foreign policy.

Bridges was born and educated in London, where he took special courses in the University of London. He was granted the degree of D. Litt. by the University of Rochester in 1927.

He came to prominence as associate leader with Stephen Coit of the West London Ethical Society. In 1912, he was brought to Chicago to take over the leadership of the Chicago Ethical Society, a position he still holds.

He is president of Booth House, a Chicago social service center.

Bridges' widely divergent interests are indicated by examination of the eleven books he has had published. His works include scholarly appraisals of Shakespeare and Erasmus, and interesting and pointed discussions of "Jew-baiting" and modern marriage.

Bridges' work demands that he keep himself apprised of the latest developments in politics and foreign policy, and he has made an especially close study of Roosevelt's "Good Neighbor" policy, which will comprise a portion of the lecture tomorrow night.

and rush—and crime problem, I not just as characters in the play." "The item of information I spoke of came by telephone this morning. Long distance. Of course you remember my cousin, John Waddell, who has visited here several summers. He lives in Chicago, you know. He called early this morning, and fortunately I answered. He had met Frank Kendrick often while visiting here, of course."

"John didn't know about Frank's—being on the missing list. But he knew something must be terribly wrong because yesterday noon he saw Frank in a loop restaurant—working as a busboy!"

"Grimly Helen kept her eyes from Marcia's stricken face. Grimly she refused to pause. The words tumbled out."

"John said Frank pretended not to know him. Said John was mistaken—his name was something else. But John, of course, knew he couldn't be wrong. So he telephoned me to ask what was the matter, and whether he should do anything. I told him I couldn't answer right off. I'd have to call or write later. And that's all."

That was all! Only a dearest renewal of the weeks-old confusion in her mind, Marcia realized. Only a resumption of torturing speculations, when one was trying to stop remembering.

Henry John English Dies Suddenly In Springfield Sunday

Young Business Man Was on Way Home from Meeting at Bloomington

Henry John English died suddenly Sunday evening at St. John's hospital, Springfield at 11:05 o'clock, after an intestinal hemorrhage. Mr. English was returning with his wife from Bloomington, where he had attended a radio convention. He was taken violently ill in Springfield on his way home and was removed to St. John's hospital, where he was placed under the care of two doctors and nurses, who gave him all possible attention.

His wife was with him when he passed away. Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. English, his mother and father and his little son, John William, arrived soon afterwards from Jacksonville.

Mr. English was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. English, 844 West College avenue. He was born May 10, 1906 in this city and lived here all of his life until seven years ago. He graduated from the David Prince Junior High school, with the highest honors in his class, the Jacksonville High school and Illinois College with the class of 1929, on June 12 of that year.

While in college he was a member of Pi Pi Rho, of which he was a charter member. Mr. English was prominently identified with many activities at the college, where he was a popular student.

On June 13, one day after graduation, he was married to Mrs. Martha Lucile Driver at her home east of Murfreesboro. They immediately left for Akron, Ohio, where he entered the employ of the Goodyear Rubber Company and became manager of the production and control at the dock, where the giant dirigibles Akron and Macon were built. In Akron, on April 11, 1933 a little son was born, John William English.

Last year Mr. and Mrs. English and son returned to Jacksonville to reside after a series of labor troubles at Akron. Mr. English at that time bought out the Stout Coal company, which he has been operating ever since.

Mr. English has a host of friends both in Jacksonville and Akron, who will be shocked by his sudden passing. He was always devoted to his family and a most loyal friend and was one of the young business men of the city who will be greatly missed in the community.

He is survived by his wife, Martha Lucile Driver English, one son, John William; his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Henry William English, all of Jacksonville and other relatives out of the city.

The body was removed from the Reynolds' Mortuary to the home last night.

The funeral services will be in charge of Rev. M. M. Pommeroy on Tuesday afternoon, at 3:00 o'clock at the residence, 844 West College avenue. Interment will be in Diamond Grove cemetery.

Quail and Pheasant Season in Central Zone Begins Friday

Morgan County Sportsmen Preparing for Action; Daily Limits Set

Guns will bang in the fields of Morgan and neighboring counties Friday of this week, as the 1936 season on pheasants, quail and rabbits is ushered in throughout the Central zone of Illinois.

Sportsmen have been permitted to shoot ducks, geese, brants, coots and snipes since Nov. 1, and the open season on the field game went into effect in the Northern zone last Sunday.

The daily limit on pheasants is two and each hunter is permitted to have six in his possession at one time. Twelve quail may be shot each day and 35 may be held at one time, while the daily limit on rabbits is 15 with no possession maximum.

The pheasant season will close November 23, and the quail season on Dec. 20. The rabbit season will carry over until 1937.

The Central zone is bounded on the north by the southern limits of Henderson, Warren, Knox, Woodford, Livingston, Kankakee and Iroquois counties, and on the south by the northern limits of Madison, Bond, Fayette, Effingham, Jasper and Crawford counties.

Morgan county's hunting prospects are a debatable question. Morgan county has pheasants, quail and rabbits. But where they are, and how many, is something that each sportsman will have to figure out for himself.

The supply of pheasant, of course, is small and scattered. Restocking activities here in the past few years have helped, but the time has not arrived when a hunter can be certain of getting back home with the limit before lunch time.

American Planes Over Tibet Next Year Says Enders

Foreign Advisor to Grand Lama Lectures at MacMurray College

By next summer the roar of American airplanes will be heard over the Hermit Kingdom of Tibet, prophesied Gordon B. Enders, foreign adviser to the Grand Lama of Tibet in his lecture upon that country, Monday evening in the MacMurray college lecture series.

Mr. Enders held the closest attention of the large audience which filled Music Hall, as he told of the "Mystery Land," at one time forbidden land, the goal of China, England, Japan and Russia.

"The reasons for coveting Tibet," said Mr. Enders, "were the reasons of Empire." Just beyond his home, which his parents established on the frontier, located on the actual dividing line, marked by the English surveys, was the Kingdom of Tibet. Here, he said, were the meeting places of the caravan routes and the wealth of the native friend and official go-between was allowed to hear, to observe and learn the customs of the people. He played at making forts and flying kites with the Tibetans and the Mohammedans, learning the native language, the Hindustani, as soon as he did his mother tongue.

Mr. Enders graphically told of a period spent in his friend's home, where he grew to know the people as happy and lovable but with quick tempers.

Tibet is a polygamous as well as a polyandrous country, which seems to serve the country well and suit the economic conditions. Gold is found in every river and stream. For centuries the kingdom has been a forbidden land and has stirred the great powers in their quest for wealth. This nation is the largest theocracy in the world. They believe in gods in human form. In telling their gods, Mr. Enders said, "Tibet is the Head ruler, the Lord Buddha, the spiritual ruler, the son-in-law, the temporal ruler, and the temple ruler or temple-head."

"The history of Tibet is the history of these three incarnations, transmigration of souls, with the modern belief of lives of conflict, returning to earth in the lives of infants."

Mr. Enders reviewed the conflict of the rulers, bringing the history vividly to the minds of his audience, telling of the exile of the "Lord Buddha" or spiritual ruler in India, where he was welcomed. Following the World war, Mr. Enders, who was a member of the French and U. S. fliers found himself in China instead of Tibet, in 1920. Here he studied conditions, economic and political and came to the conclusion that aviation would play a big part in Asia. In 1930, owing to civil war in Tibet, the Great Ruler voluntarily became an exile in China. It was at this time that he sent for the American Gordon Enders to help him, since he was a spiritual ruler and prayed for peace without strife.

Mr. Enders described his audience with the ruler at Shanghai.

He also told, as a superb narrator, of the unusual peace conference which followed among the monastic leaders, and finally of his appointment in the central manner to a seat in the upper house of the Tibetan national assembly, also foreign adviser to the Grand Lama.

In closing, Mr. Enders gave a vision of Asia, which was astounding in its plans through airplanes and modern science for a gradual and peaceful opening up of the hitherto "Forbidden Land."

Fight On Diseases Described in Talk

Federated Churchmen Hear Interesting Address By Dr. Richardson

A most instructive and informative talk on the way in which the public health department serves the country and city, was given last evening by Dr. Baxter Richardson of the educational service of the Illinois Department of Health, before a well attended meeting of the Jacksonville Men's Federated church club at the Centenary M. E. church.

Having as his subject, "Public Health in Illinois—Past, Present and Future," Dr. Richardson with the use of stereopticon slides, gave a graphic idea of the great strides which have been made during the last 25 years in prevention of particularly communicable diseases.

Portraying by charts the decrease in many of these diseases, as a result of the scientific data combined as to cause and seasonal prevalence, and how the department is provided serums and other modes of prevention, Dr. Richardson showed in unmistakable fashion the value to the communities of the state of the work of the health department.

At the same time, Dr. Richardson pointed out the great need for added financial aid if the department is to render best service.

Special entertainment for the evening included piano accompaniment by Miss Marjorie Axt.

Due to illness, President Albert Arter was unable to attend, the session being in charge of the vice president, Dr. B. K. Ennis.
